

2000-Level English Literature Syllabus Supplement

A. Policy Statements

Required Prerequisite: A grade of C or better in ENGL 1102 is required before a student may take any ENGL 2000-level survey of literature.

Withdrawal Policies: Students may withdraw from the course and earn a grade of “W” up to and including the midterm date (Wednesday, October 14, 2015 for full-session fall classes). After midterm, students who withdraw will receive a grade of “WF.” A WF is calculated in the GPA as an “F.” Instructors may assign “W” grades for students with excessive absences (beyond the number of absences permitted by the instructor’s stated attendance policy). Students may withdraw from a maximum of five courses throughout their enrollment at Middle Georgia State. Beyond the five-course limit, withdrawals result in “F” grades.

MGA Academic Misconduct Statement: As a Middle Georgia State University student and as a student in this class, you are responsible for reading, understanding, and abiding by the MGA Student Code of Conduct. The Student Code of Conduct is included in the MGA Student Handbook and is available online at http://www.mga.edu/student-affairs/docs/MGA\_Student\_Handbook.pdf.

MGA Policy on Disability Accommodations: Students seeking academic accommodations for a special need must contact the Middle Georgia State University Office of Disability Services in Macon at (478) 471-2985 or in Cochran at (478) 934-3023. Students may also visit the Disability Services Office in room 266 of the Student Life Center on the Macon campus or in Sanford Hall on the Cochran campus.

“Technical Policy” (re: plagiarism detection): a plagiarism prevention service is used in evaluation of written work submitted for this course. As directed by the instructor, students are expected to submit or have their assignments submitted through the service in order to meet requirements for this course. The papers may be retained by the service for the sole purpose of checking for plagiarized content in future student submissions.

End of Course Evaluations: Student evaluations of faculty are administered online in Brightspace (D2L) at the end of each term/session for all courses with five or more students. All responses are anonymous and completion of evaluations is voluntary.

The Writing Center: Individual writing assistance is available for any MGA student in The Writing Center. Please visit any of our locations: Cochran Campus, Russell Hall 309; Dublin Campus, Dublin Building, Room 224; or Macon Campus, The Education Building 226.

B. Student Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of any ENGL 2000-level literature survey (ENGL 2111, 2112, 2121, 2122, 2131, 2132, 2141 or 2142) students will be able to:

- interpret and critically analyze texts (MGA General Education Learning Goal C),
- communicate effectively, in a professional manner, in discussing or writing about works of literature in the given area/time period,
- demonstrate knowledge of genres, literary and historical periods, and at least implicitly, basic approaches to literary theory,
- demonstrate effectiveness in library research processes,
- appreciate how literary works reflect the aesthetic qualities and cultural values inherent in literary works.

Upon successful completion of ENGL 2111 or 2112 in particular, students will be able to demonstrate understanding of political, social, economic, or institutional developments across the globe (MGA General Education Learning Goal II [Global Perspectives]).

C. Definition of Plagiarism:

The following definition of plagiarism expands upon the Student Code's description of plagiarism and has been adopted as standard by the English Department. For further explanation and illustrations, refer to the English Department's "Plagiarism Definition," available online at <http://www.mga.edu/liberal-arts/english>.

1. It is plagiarism to copy another's words directly and present them as your own without quotation marks and direct indication of whose words you are copying. All significant phrases, clauses, and passages copied from another source require quotation marks and proper acknowledgment, down to the page number(s) of printed texts.
2. It is plagiarism to paraphrase another writer's work by altering some words but communicating the same essential point(s) made by the original author without proper acknowledgment. Though quotation marks are not needed with paraphrasing, you must still acknowledge the original source directly.
3. Plagiarism includes presenting someone else's ideas or factual discoveries as your own. If you follow another person's general outline or approach to a topic, presenting another's original thinking or specific conclusions as your own, you must cite the source even if your work is in your own words entirely. When you present another's statistics, definitions, or statements of fact in your own work, you must also cite the source.
4. Plagiarism includes allowing someone else to prepare work that you present as your own.
5. Plagiarism applies in other media besides traditional written texts, including, but not limited to, oral presentations, graphs, charts, diagrams, artwork, video and audio compositions, and other electronic media such as web pages, PowerPoint presentations, and online discussion postings.
